09/291,147
CA9-98-011

2

23. (Amended) A data storage medium on which a computer program is recorded which, in combination with a general purpose computer loaded with an operating system and a parsing editor, equipped to read into memory and execute program data from the data storage medium to perform the method for generating marks in a document according to claim 15.

24. (Amended) A data storage medium on which a computer program is recorded which, in combination with a general purpose computer loaded with an operating system and a parsing editor, equipped to read into memory and execute program data from the data storage medium to perform the method for generating marks in a document according to claim 16.